The Tariff Bill Went Into Effect at Midnight.

WAS NOT SIGNED BY CLEVELAND.

He Gives His Reasons For Net Sign ing the Measure in Ita Present Form.

ALSO, WHY HE DID NOT VETO IT

M. 1890, practically four years, died, on the matrite books and the new Demoeratio turiff bill, passed by the Fifty shird concress, became a law without the signature of President Cleveland The constitutional period of 10 days allowed the president to consider the bill, expired with the midnight hour. and according to the terms of the constitation, the president having failed to re turn the bill to congress with or without his approval, 't became a law

The placing of the bill upon the statmost remarkable struggles in the parlia mentary history of the government. It mation of the new tariff law was commenced fine extraordinary session of the purpose of repealing the Sherman silver purchasing law Two weeks later bouse, with Mr Wilson of West Vii ginia as culairman, was appointed, and after the holidays during the regular three weeks it was debated in the house, passing that body Jan 28, by a vote of 204 to 240 Seventeen house Demo crats voted against 25.

all The debate which began in the senate April 2, lasted until July 3, when the bill passed by a vote of 39 to 34. The crisis occurred when the bill reached conference On Aug 13, the house yielded and accepted the semate oill in toto Two days afterward, Francisco Beston, Philadelphia Balti Wednesday, Ang 15, it went to the resident, and last night at the expiration of the constitutional 10 days (Sundays not counted) it became a lanthout Mr Cleveland's approval the subject further and most serious con sideranon. The result is, I am more set of the side side than ever in the determination to al-

Agnature.

When the formulation of legislation, which it was hoped would smbody Democratic ideas of tariff reform, was lately en cratic ideas of tariff reform, was lately en size of upon by the congress, nothing was further from my anticipation than a result which I could not promptly and enthanastically endorse. It is therefore with Market a feeling of the unmest disappointment at that I submit to a densal of this privilege is I do not claim to be better than the Massacs of my party, nor do I wish to avoid they passage of this law I constitute hears. member of the Democratic organization still chargeable to Democratic effort. Due there are provisions in this bill which are not in line with hon at terriff reform, and it contains inconsistences and crudities which ought not to appear in terriff laws or laws of any lost. Beacher there were as laws of any hand. Besides, there were, as you and I well know, incidents accompanying the passage of the bill through congress, which made every sincere reference nahappy, while influences surrounded it in its latter stages and interfered with its flust construction, which coght not to be recognised or tolerated in Damocratic tariff reform councils.

And yet, notwishstanding all its vicisal-indes and the bad transtruent its received at ant I take my place with the rank and file of bill as the close of the war, who are not blinded to ue fact that the livery of Dem-

blasted the councils of their trave in their sour of might. The trusts and their combinations—the communism of polt—whose machinations which have prevented us from teaching the success we deserve should not be lorgotten or folghen. We shall recover from our as tourshment at their for the we shall recover from our as tourshment at their exhibition of power, and it then the question is forced upon us whither they shall submit to the free legis lative will of the people's representatives, or shall dictate the laws which the people or shall dictate the laws. nust obey, we will scrept and settle that seems one involving the integrity and

I can't be mistakin as to the necessity of free raw materials as the foundation of logical and sensible teriff reform. The extent to which this is recognized in the legislation already scoured is one of its encouraging and redeeming features but it is evaluate to recall that while free coal is edited and iron one have been induced as latter of the scienciary of the tenesity discloses the fact that both might have been made free clares that it will put new miners at the screetury of the treasury discloses the fact that both might have been made free by the innual surender of only about work as soon as possible by the immal surender of only about $700 000 of un necessary receive.

I am sure that there is a common babit of underestimating the importance of free raw materials in taliff legislation, and of regarding them as only related to tencersions to be made to our manufacturing. The truth is, then influence is so fur reaching that if disregalded, a complete and beneficent scheme of taruff reform can not be successfully inaugurated.

The Pillars of Hercules.

The Pilla's of Hercules" was the name anciently given to the mountains of Calpe and Abyla, standing opposite to each other the one on the European and the other on the African shore of the straits which connect the Mediterranean sea with the Atlantic ocean These mountains are now called the Rock of GR braitar and Jobel Zatant. The word Gilbraltar, which is at present also applied to the straits, was originally "Jebel T. ric," or "Mountain of Tar-10," Tauc being the name of the leader of the first Mohammedan hand ness in the recipion of the pavelers.

This fall's election in the State of Delaware will be of national importance. There is a governor to elect, a member of congress and a state legislature which will choose the successor of United States : enator Higgins. The Senate of the United States is now the pivotal point of contest between the parties. They are so evenly balanced that every inch of ground to be gained or lost is matter of the most serious concern. Great interests depend upon the changes which may be effected in the Senate and it certainly behooves Delaware Democrats to make every effort to have They control as it is all the gold of control of the legislature.

The most hopeful feature on which the nineteenth century will look as its sun sees down is the movement of helpfulness to one another that is spreading among civilized men. In all history there is no record of a time when people generally were doing so much to etter the lot of those less fortunate. There is snobbery without end. There is the childish aristocracy of wealth, which thinks itself superior because it has more of the merely animal comforts of life. There are cheating and despoiling as cruel, if not so violent, as any that blotted the human record in the

Tuesday still, and all manner things had happened and were still to happen in the hurrying hours that fol-lowed Sunday hight. The garrison woke at Tuesday's reveille in much perturba 8 o'clock and breakfast time one can of perplexity was at an end. Relief had come with Monday afternoon and Alice come with Monday afternoon and Ance Renwick's letter saying she would not attend the german, and now still great-er relief in the news that sped from mouth to mouth-Lieutenant Jerrold was in close arrest. Armitage and Chester had been again in consultation Monday night, said the gossips, and something new had been discovered no one knew just what—and the toils had settled upon Jerrold's handsome head, and now he was to be tried. As isual in such cases, the news came in through the kitchen, and most officers coard it at the breakfast table from the lips of their better halves, who could pardly find words to express their sentiments as to the inability of their lords to explain the new phase of the situa-When the first sorgeaut of Company B came around to Captain Armitage with the sickbook soon after 6 in be morning the captain briefly directed him to transfer Lieutenant Jerrold on the morning report from present for luty to "in arrest," and no sooner was it known at the quarters of Company B

Chatting and laugh-ing and full of blithe anticipation of the gleries of the coming german, in prepa-ration for which most of their number had found it necessary to run in for just an hour's shopping, they went jubilantly on their way. Perhaps th most interesting question now up for discussion was, Who would lead with Mr. Rollins? The train went puffing into the crowded depot, the ladies has tened forth and in a moment were on the street, cabs and carriages were passed in disdain, a brisk walk of a block carried them to the main thoroughfare and into the heart of the shopping dis-trict, a rush of hoofs and wheels and pedestrians there encountered them, and the roar assailed their sensitive and uneccustomed ears, yet high above it all pierced and pealed the shrill voices of the newsboys darting here and there with their eagerly bought journals. But women bent on germans and shopping have time and cars for no such news as that which demands the publication of extras. Some of them never hear or heed the cry: "Indian massacre!"
"Here y'are! All about the killin of Major Thornton an his sojers!" "Ex-

It is not until they reach the broad portals of the great Stewart of the west that one of their number, half increduously, buys a copy and reads aloud: "Major Thornton,—th infantry, Cap-tain Laugham and Licutement Edisa, -th infantry, Cap-Captains Wright and Lane and Lieuten ants Willard and Brooks, -th cavalry and some 40 more men are seriously ounded. The rest of the command is corralled by an overwhelming force of Indians, and their only hope is to hold out until help can reach them. All broops along the line of the Union Pacific are already under orders. "Oh, isn't it dreadful?" "Yes, but aren't you glad it wasn't ours? Oh, look! There's Nina Beambien over there in her carriage. Do let's find out if she's going to lead with Rollins."

Loaks In Gas Meters You will find some people who are positive that gas companies blow o pump air from the works into the gas mains during the day to make the meter go around and to make the index register. This is sheer nonsense, for not only can the consumer at any time by lighting a burner convince himself that the pipes contain illumi nating gas and not air, but where no gas is burned and the house pipes are tight the consumer, by watching the small index hand of the meter dur ing the day, will find that it remains stationary, Another widespread belief is that manufacturers of gas meters and gas companies work hand in hand to defraud the consumer, whereas the fact is that gas meters are measuring machines constructed with accuracy and was explained Noticing that I was watching him with a good deal of interest, he came up to the steps, and removing the tat tered rim of what was once a felf hat

"Boss man, I'ze goin strikin' flounder tonight Like to go long? It's easy 'nuff," he said "Jest put on ole close that don't matter bout wettin, and I'll call for you after suppor "

After having finished supper and en joyed a eigar and a stroll on the beach, watching the bathers in the surf and apying a distant sail on the her zon, I ded to dress for the occasion Take ing Bob's advice, I selected an old pair of baseball shoes, an anoent par of cadet trousers that had stood the test of many a dross parade—a rehe of my "rat" year—a cap of the same description and a flamel shut and a heavy coat, for it was cool on the water after master even in pudgingurer par for sunset, even in midsummer, not forget ting to take a good supply of tobacco and a pipe to keep off the gnats and sand flies and a pluz of chewing tobac co for my companion. Negroes always claim to be out when a white man is around

I joined Bob at the back door, and we made our way down to the landing Here we found a large first bettomed scow, on one side of which was fixed an old grate, in which a fire was burning fiercely, while at the other cud was a huge pile of dry oak, with pleuty of fat pine for kindling Standing in the boat was a colored boy of about the same size and blackness of my attendant, whom Bob lesignated to me as "my mammy's sister Sally's boy Rufe."

Greeting the grinning Rutus, who re plied by ser uping the bottom of the boat with one foot, while he touched where his hat would have been had he worn any, for no such arricle encumbered his woolly crown, we all made ourselves comfortable, Bob studing at the bow. Rufus at the stein with a pole, while I was invited to take the middle scat near the fire and requested to keep the boat clear of water, which as soon as we began our journey rushed through the

The mg 2 was very cark, but lighted by our fire we begin to follow the shore, and our fire bottom enabled us to keep in very close And now came to me m very close. And now came to me what was the strangest part of the pro-oceding. Bob, standing, as I have said, in the bow armed with a striking pole, which is samply a heavy rod about 8 foot low, with feet long with a two pronged fork at one end, kept his tyes fixed on the wa-ter, which was brightly lit up for sev these trains of women, dogs, carts and milk this abound. and have never been able to fathom

To be sure, the water was quite shallow, ranging in depth from 1 to 2½ feet, and the light from the fire was very bright, but when you take into consideration the fact that the soil was almost black and very muddy and soft, and that the fish almost bury them-

be natural to suppose that the "striker" would occusionally inistake some object for a flounder in waters that teemed with all kinds of fish or that sometimes he would ful to secure the fish, even if he struck correctly for it is a known fact that "the buggest fish I ever caught was the one that got away, 'but, no, I never knew Bob or any of the other many negroes whom I afterward saw out 'striking' to be guilty of failure Sometimes the flounder would be pierced by only one proug metead of two, and sometimes the wound would be very noar the side of the fish, but secure him they always did That night we were out about two hons and secured eight of us fine flour dets as I ever saw, runging in size from 10 to 15 inches three of which for nished a very fine breakfast dish the next morning —Philadelphia Times
